Brian, inclement weather and staff illness means we are not able to complete monitoring efforts as planned early this week, and coordinating the right staff to finish this effort next week is near impossible. I may be desperate enough to try to fit in some in-water work on Wednesday afternoon. As much as I would prefer not to, I would like to investigate a call in option for this meeting in case I can work from Portland in the morning to jump start field work in the afternoon. Might this be possible?

*please expect a reasonable delay in responsiveness during the field season (May-October)

I do plan to join you, though will need to leave mid-way for another meeting in Westbrook.
